

engaging personalities

Great speakers make great events, and Eblana Communications is proud to present four of the most entertaining and engaging personalities available.

Rogue Trader
Nick Leeson

During his rise to the top of the banking world, few knew his name - but the spectacular fall of Nick Leeson saw him immortalised as the Rogue Trader, the man who broke Barings Bank.

Many years have passed since the collapse of the bank, but the story remains as compelling as ever.

Encouraged by a system that rewarded risky behaviour, Leeson took great risks and incurred huge losses, eventually leading to the collapse of the bank.

He's no longer alone, as the entire financial system has since been threatened by a meltdown similar to that which claimed Barings - but he is still the best-known rogue trader of them all.

Leeson talks frankly about his time in Singapore, his arrest, conviction and the time he spent in prison, but also about the lack of supervision that allowed him to run up such breathtaking losses.

Few commentators can provide such unique insight, and Leeson shares his thoughts and tips on what your business needs to do to walk the fine line between success and disaster. An unmissable speaker.

Documentally
Christian Payne

Documentally is the working name of Englishman Christian Payne, a freelance mobile media maker who specialises in Social Technology and connected platforms.

Travelling light and working fast, Christian is in demand all over the world thanks to his ability to not only tell stories, but to explain why they're great too.

Whether it's plugged-in individuals or large companies taking their first steps in connected platforms, Christian is capable of tailoring an innovative, compelling workshop to suit your needs.

www.documentally.com

Pelle Blohm

A hugely popular broadcaster and writer in his native Sweden, Pelle Blohm has always chosen the road less travelled.

As a soccer player, he set the tone; when his peers looked to England and Holland to further their careers, Pelle headed east to China and into the unknown. In a single season, he won the league title with Dalian Wanda as he battled with the Chinese authorities and became one of the most recognisable sports figures in the country.

Since his retirement from playing, he has become a well-respected commentator as well as diversifying into journalism and public speaking. He writes and speaks on all aspects of society and culture, as well as his pioneering career as a sportsman.

www.blohm.se

Philip O'Connor

Eblana Communications is based in Stockholm, Sweden and Dublin, Ireland, providing content, communications services and event management skills to companies and organisations.

Journalist, author and broadcaster Philip O'Connor launched Eblana Communications three years ago, and hasn't looked back since.

Covering everything from sport to finance, politics, culture and general news, O'Connor's natural inquisitiveness and humour make him a perfect moderator and an engaging speaker for any event.

To book any of the speakers in this brochure, please contact:

Philip O'Connor
Mob (Sweden): +46 70 721 7715
Mob (Ireland): +35386 352 45 15
Twitter: @philipoconnor
<http://eblana.se> (Swedish)
<http://eblana.ie> (English)

eblana
communications